IT'S ABOUT TIME

The goal of the staff of the 1990 yearbook was to design something that truly represented the senior class. We encountered many obstacles, but believing in ourselves and the product we wished to produce, we overcame them, learning that anything worth wanting was worth fighting for.

This yearbook is about time, four years of time. Each aspiration, dream, and setback, only preparing us for the future. We have reached the final stretch of our High School career, and IT'S ABOUT TIME.

To the future senior classes of CHS, we give you a slate clean of any preconceived notions of what the CHS yearbook of the future should be. It is yours to create, after all IT'S ABOUT TIME.

WHO'S NEWS

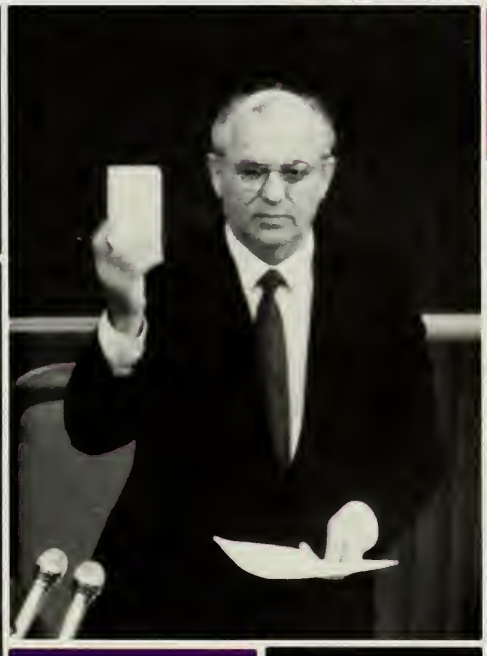
Famous Faces. President Bush and Vice-president Quayle were both inaugurated in January '89. They defeated Massachusetts' Govenor Mike Dukakis and Texas' Senator Lloyd Benson in the November '88 election. Roseanne Barr rose from a cult comedian to a mainstream television megastar as a wise-cracking mother in the television series "Roseanne." John Goodman plays her husband in this show about a middle-class family. Mikhail Gorbachev is the first Soviet premier to make a great effort to strengthen U.S.-Soviet ties. Glasnost, his new and more liberal system of government, is allowing his country to learn more and more about the outside world, and vice-versa. Pete Rose was banned for life from the game of baseball, because the commissioner found that Rose bet on his own team. Batman was the top movie of the year, producing over $200 million dollars in revenue. Stars of the movie included Michael Keaton and Jack Nicholson. Arsenio Hall was one of the stars of the hit film "Coming to America" and now has his own T.V. talk show, which began early this year and has been very successful.



tragic times

In late March of 1989, the tanker Exxon Valdez, went off course and ran aground in Prince William Sound, Alaska. About 10 million gallons of crude oil poured out of the Valdez and spread out over 1600 square miles of water, ruining 800 miles of formerly wildlife-rich shoreline. It was the largest oil spill in American history and undoubtedly the most harmful. Fishermen have lost over 12 million dollars worth of future catch. Although aid has been sent, and teams are working on the spill, prospects are dim.

At 5:04 p.m. on October 17, the earth shook in northern California. An earthquake that measured 7.0 on the Richter Scale destroyed parts of Oakland and San Francisco and surrounding areas. More than 60 were killed, hundreds were injured and the damage topped 2 billion dollars.

Political problems in the Middle East continued this year. Problems between Arabs and Israelites, and the factions within the Arab population made Beirut a constant war zone.

What began as a peaceful, well-organized pro-democracy demonstration at China's Tiananmen Square gradually evolved into a bloody fiasco. On May 15, 1989, students from Beijing University, People's University, and Beijing Normal University participated in a march on Beijing's Tiananmen Square. For two weeks the protestors' hunger strikes, self-incinerations, and pro-democracy speeches caught the attention of the global community. But their protest ended in a massacre, government soldiers, using tanks and automatic weapons, ended the protest. Thousands were killed and wounded.

The $530 million Stealth Bomber made its debut this year to the rave reviews of the Pentagon. However, its many critics say the plane, although difficult to detect by radar, is too expensive. After traveling 4.4 billion miles, in 12 years, Voyager 2 arrived at the planet Neptune in August.

AN ADMITTEDLY BIASED LIST OF THE LATEST AND NOT SO LATEST TRENDS

Nike Airs should be warn, clogs on the other hand, no!
It's o.k. to wear Guess jeans but Wranglers should not be seen!
Ripped jeans are stylish, but pull-on-slacks haven't been for a while
Champion sweatshirts in a variety of colors is fine, but to have Shawn Cassidy t-shirts in every hue of green really should be forgotten
Having your friends give you a buddy bracelet is hot, but making your own friendship pins is not Unless you're in a Clorox commercial, pastels are out and earth tones are in Vests are the rage, suspenders — WRONG!!!
Death Penalty and abortion — you figure it out
Tiffany is not in . . . neither is Debby Gibson
Headbands, yes . . . barrettes NEGATIVE!!!
Gold jewelry will always be in, but jelly jewelry will never be again!

music waves

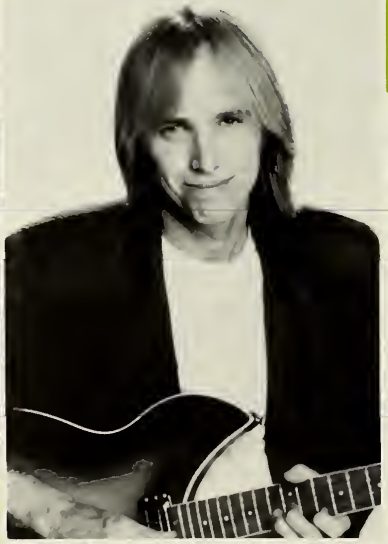
In the years 1989-1990, we listened to anything from pop to underground. Our music was as varied as the personalities that make up our senior class. In our trek through the charts, we have encountered many artists, here are just a few. Tracy Chapman, both a singer and a songwriter, has been on the charts for months with her new album "Crossroads." Her unique voice and strong lyrics have kept her popular with teenagers of all musical tastes. Bobby Brown, a famous member of the group New Edition, came out with hits of his own this year and was a big success. The most popular songs of these were "My Prerogative" and "Don't Be Cruel." Paula Abdul has gone "Straight Up" the charts with her recent releases "Cold Hearted," and "Forever Your Girl." This 25 year old singer is also a choreographer for Janet Jackson and Tracy Ullman. Although 10,000 Maniacs has been together for eight years, it was only this year that their innovative songs have been widely recognized. Fine Young Cannibals, a group virtually unheard of a year ago, now has three chart-topping hits, "Good Thing," "She Drives Me Crazy," and "Don't Look Back."

rithm

The group Simply Red has returned to the charts after a few silent years. Whoops ding dong, isn't that wonderful, she's on Living Colour, a group starting as a warm up band for the Rolling Stones' Steel Wheels tour, now has hit a gig with their new album "Vivid," including "Glamour Boys" and "Cult of Personality." In 1986 Madonna threw away the crosses and lace, now in 1988 she's back with an album dealing with controversial issues, such as child abuse and wife beating. With the hit "Cherish," she became the female singer with the most number one songs. Neneh Cherry hit the top of the charts in August with "Buffalo Stance," which contains rock, jazz, funk, and disco. She is produced with her father Don. L.L. Cool J, one of the country's most popular rap singers, followed here backstage after the Soul Train awards. Mick Jagger, he's old, but the Stones are still around.

beet MUSIC MUSIC MUSIC

The Cure released its latest album "Disintegration" in May, selling almost one million copies overnight. Milli Vanilli, the European dance-soul duo, hit the United States with their first two singles on top of the charts. Exposé has exploded onto the scene. This all-female group hit the charts as soon as they hit the stage. The best way to describe Bobby McFerrin is to call him a "rhythmic one-man orchestra." The 39-year-old entertainer creates a sound that is unlike any other. Tom Petty split with the Heartbreakers for a solo career and his album Full Moon Fever is a smash hit. Love And Rockets has achieved top-40 stardom, with their ever-changing moods despite an experimental and uncompromising approach.



MUSIC MUSIC MUSIC MUSIC

Diana Ross started with the Supremes nearly 25 years ago and today she remains a top-40 vocalist. She began a world tour late this year that was highlighted with some of her classic hits and songs from her new album. Martika hit number one with "Toy Soldiers." The Who blasted out of retirement in 1989, and rolled through a 25-city reunion tour. Bon Jovi is popular not only here in the U.S., but also in the Soviet Union. Members of Bon Jovi met with Jan Inenkov of the Soviet group Gorky Park before a two day concert in Moscow. The proceeds of the concert were donated to the fight against drug abuse among youths. New Kids on the Block is a young quintet that presents a streetwise but good-guy image that makes their music worthy of the pop charts. Though the underground group The Cult has been popular among college students for a long time, they became more widely recognized this year with their new album "Sonic Temple."

STUDENT LIFE

They begin the "vicious cycle." They may eventually put an end to this cycle. You can never trust them, but they often times may prove themselves to be your best friends. What am I talking about? Cars, of course.

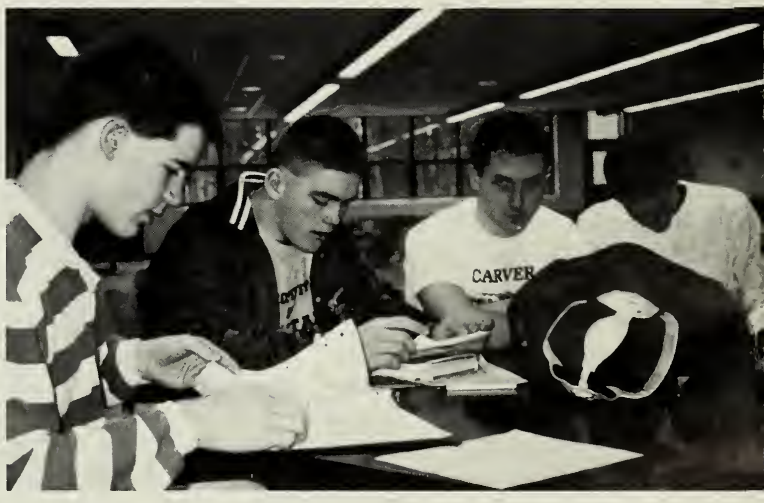
Before any teenager turns sixteen, it is his or her dream to own a car. For such anxious non-drivers, c-a-r spells "freedom" and "independence." However, they soon discover that it also spells "expensive." People who never had worked a day in their lives must work to support their vehicles of freedom. So begins the Vicious Cycle — you must have a job to have a car, and you must have a car to get to your job so that you can support your car. And on, and on, and on . . .

Many a person has tried to beat the system. They try to keep a car without a job. But they soon cannot even afford gas to keep the car running. Many people try to hold down a job without owning a car (or a license), either hoping to one day own one of these fabulous machines or to foil the system and to become a burden upon their family and friends. But soon they realize that they have become an unwelcome burden to their rides. Sometimes they cannot even find a ride to work. (You must understand that I am being light-hearted about the situation these people whose efforts to break the unbreakable cycle circle are unsuccessful).

Then, of course, comes the subject of automobile repairs. That is when we, the elite car owners, are degraded to non-owners. We must embarrass ourselves and grovel and plead, hoping anxiously that someone will say "yes" and give us the ride to work or home. We usually are the ones asked, not the ones who ask! Why have we become dependent upon such machines? Cars can either be your freedom or your biggest burden.

GRADE D BUT EDIBLE

Let's do lunch! But where, oh where, will we go? Well, at Carver High School, you have but one choice — THE CAFETERIA. Where should we start? What should we choose? The menu is so diverse . . . green hamburgers, brown lettuce . . . well, at least it keeps you guessing. Hair in the pizza, fingernails in the fries . . . but we must give credit where credit is due: the lunch-ladies do wear those adorable plastic gloves. Also beware of the dirty plates and forks — the ones that are straight from so many attempts at using them as knives. Someone believes that we still don't know how to use knives correctly, and thinks that we will use them as weapons in a riot against those responsible for the food (as we call it for the lack of a better title). Perhaps they have an idea there. We could try throwing the rock-hard jello . . .



Yes, my friends, this is the Senior Lounge. It's a dark little corner in the cafeteria. You've heard of it, perhaps you've even been there. Its walls are donned with posters and bulletin boards, and bean bag chairs collect in the corners. The Peer Leaders actually seem to get more use out of the Senior Lounge than the seniors do as a group. It's supposed to be our hide-away from the rest of the school, but you dare not have too much fun, toss a ball, or talk too loud. Because, and you may not have known this, the forces of evil are lurking forever in the recesses of the cafeteria, and they are listening in at the doors in order to catch us committing some terrible act of immaturity so they can take away our precious room. It's our part of the school; a place to talk, laugh, do homework, listen to music, avoid the realities of the school day — even if it's only for one period. Visit it, lend some truly meaningful trinket to its walls, partake of inane chatter — but enjoy it and use it because it's all ours.

MENTOS PLEASE

Where should I begin? It is just a small little area, no bigger than half a classroom. Within it, however, are stocked the means of almost every Carver High School students' sustenance — Mentos, Certs, and Tic Tacs. It is also stocked with the pens and pencils and notebooks and rulers and highlighters and all that other STUFF — yes, stuff — that is so essential to the high school student. Other materials — sweatshirts, sweatpants, and tee-shirts emblazoned with the CHS colors and the Crusader — are also stocked in this little room. Do not mock that little store; it is the closest thing to the proverbial, capitalist "real world" which awaits us outside of high school.

And then there is the school store workers. Those dedicated souls who sacrifice study periods to the quiet, isolated little room, going out of their minds if no one stops in to talk to them or if they have homework to do. We must remember them!

It's hard to believe, but graduation is fast approaching. And after that . . . Well, many of us have already started making plans for the future, which includes college for some. Come next September, we'll be beginning yet another year of school, another year of hard work. But it will be brand new — new people, new places, new classes, new environment, new teachers, far from the world of high school. As our senior year continues, so will our search for the perfect college, the perfect essay, the perfect answer to a scary interviewer's question. We wish everyone the best of luck in all their plans for the future.

Each week one or two faithful seniors are sent forth to Cranberry Kitchen II to purchase for seventy to two hundred hungry students lots and lots of doughnuts. These people ought to be thanked for helping raise some money for our class and for the dedication to organize a feeding frenzy for the masses. Headed by their ever-faithful leader Michelle Cadose, these workers set out from home as early as six-thirty in the morning to obtain food fit for the gods. Upon purchasing the morsels, they rush to school to set up the doughnuts, fruit, cocoa, coffee, milk, and juices before the hoards of hungry students arrive.

Once all the work is done, the seniors can relax with their friends, enjoying a cup of coffee and a doughnut before their first period class. It is a time for laughing, complaining, talking, and often times just waking up. This ten minute social event every Friday morning is perhaps the only time other than lunch in which the student is allowed to legally socialize, in the scheme of things at Carver High School. So eat up and buy lots of doughnuts — we need the money . . .

In Memory of Carolyn McQuad

As we've gone through these past years,

We've all had our share of tears.

Through times of love and through the fears,

All the times we've spent were dear.

The laughs, the fights, and the gloom,

Why did it have to end so soon?

That's a question long overdue,

Which no-one has an answer to.

As years have passed, and time went on,

Each day has brought a glowing dawn.

It shines so brightly, as if you were there,

Directing the beams for us all to share.

Showing us how much you care,

As you always did when you were here.

Your friendship was the greatest gift we got,

You're with us everyday, we haven't forgot.

So how do we say good-bye to you,

When there's so much more for us to do?

Even though we're far apart,

Our love for you is in our hearts.

I know we will meet again,

Someday . . . somewhere . . . I don't know when.

And on that day we meet again,

The second time will never end.

CREATIVITY AT CARVER HIGH

NEW MEDIA NEW ART

The room was cold and harsh. The walls were bare save for the clock beside the door. The hands of the clock seemed to have stopped or at least slowed down. The room itself seemed to be frozen in time.

"Only ten minutes to two! Will this class never end?" I wondered how many other people in the room were thinking the same thing. As I scanned the room, I could see the pained expressions on more than one student's face and knew I was not alone. All eyes were directed at the clock in the hope that time would somehow go by faster with everyone watching. This did not, however, occur.

Instead, the teacher — who shall remain nameless — continued to drone on in a voice that neither changed or stopped: "The seventeenth century was a time of great social changes — Does anyone know the reason for this?"

This was obviously meant as a rhetorical question, so no one in the class bothered to answer or even acknowledge that the teacher had spoken.

"The reason for this change had to do with the unstable situation in the northern section of the country."

It is truly amazing how much a teacher can say without really saying anything!

"Does anyone know what those unstable conditions were?"

Another question, and one that gets just about the same response as the previous question.

"The conditions had to do with the rich land owners of the northern section battling each other for control of the country. Does anyone know what country we are talking about?"

Another question, but wait! Is that a hand going up? Could some "student" be about to participate in class? Is another voice about to be heard aside from that remorseless, mechanical voice that has been heard all period long?

Everyone's eyes are on the poor girl now. Will she speak?

No, false alarm. The kid was just reaching up to scratch her back. And so, the voice goes on.

"The country we are talking about is . . ."

At this point, I decided to tune out. Hey, I had been listening all period long, and the teacher had not said one word worth listening to yet. It was about time I stopped paying attention. Most people had stopped a long time ago.

I let my thoughts drift. I remember my third grade teacher. Oh, she was great — funny, interesting, sympathetic. She had a voice that actually sounded human, wore halfway decent clothing, and was fun, yes, fun! Those were the good ol' days. They just don't make teachers like they used to.

Nowadays, schools are filled with people who claim to be teachers, but who are (as I personally believe), in fact, Soviet or Japanese agents sent over to teach America's youth. Obviously, these Russians or Japanese or whoever want to make sure the next generation of Americans is made up of blithering idiots who don't know what our government is, let alone how to run it.

This does not mean however, that any one of today's students will not, one day, become president or vice-president. I mean, look at Dan Quayle.

Most teachers, at least mine anyway, seemed to be obsessed with sex, blood, and gore, and have lived all over the world, and have been a part of any and all historical events of the past hundred years or so. Sometimes, I wonder . . . R-R-I-I-N-N-G-G The bell, I can't believe it. I've actually made it through another day. Only one hundred eight days more of school to go.

As I walk out of class, I think back over the last period, and suddenly I realize something; I never did find out what country the teacher was talking about.

Journalism

From mind to computer, from computer to disk, from disk to main disk, from main disk to paper. The journalism class finds out every day that a simple collection of ideas can turn into something tangible. Articles about school sports. Articles about clubs. Articles about tuna fish. Short stories. The Crusader newspaper has become a part of Carver High and a periodical that students can look forward to reading and can depend on for interesting articles and innovative fiction.

EDITORIAL

The World Series is my favorite part of the baseball season. I was especially looking forward to this year's series. I am a die-hard San Francisco Giants fan and confirmed Oakland A's hater. I was totally confident that the Giants would emerge victorious (confidence will get you nowhere). But the events of Tuesday, October 17 have changed my feelings about the World Series and professional sports in general.

The earthquake that struck Southern California minutes before Game 3 of the World Series was about to start, was the second most damaging quake in modern American history. The epicenter of the quake was only 80 miles away from San Francisco, and it rated a 6.9 on the Richter scale.

Over sixty people died that afternoon, most of them under a bridge on their way home from work. There were billions of dollars in damages as buildings and roads were ruined. Amazingly, no one of the forty-odd thousand people at Candlestick Park that evening was seriously injured, and the stadium itself suffered only minor damage . . .

However, I believe that because of the quake, the World Series should never have been resumed this season. Holding the World Series off until San Francisco was ready was a good move. But more serious consideration should have been given to cancelling this year's World Series.

On the practical side, the highways and streets in the Bay Area were not fully capable of handling the enormous traffic that comes with a baseball game. Morning rush hour in San Francisco is now an all-day event and a miserable headache for traffic police. The police force required to supervise a World Series event is already stressed and does not need this additional responsibility.

But the major reason why the earthquake has changed my feelings about the World Series is because I think it is morally unethical to play in a city that has so recently suffered a great tragedy. As Fay Vicent himself has said: "This [the earthquake] really puts things in perspective. We are playing a boys' game in the real world and have just been reminded of that fact." Baseball, no matter how exciting or money-making, is only a game and human lives should always take precedence over a game. . .

LET'S WAVE
— NOT WAIVE —
PRINCIPLES

Josh Dand

Should or should not we be able to burn the American Flag? Just last week the Senate approved a bill that will make flag-burning illegal. The bill is being sent to President Bush for approval, and it is expected to be made law soon.

In doing so, Congress and President Bush are attempting to overthrow a decision made earlier this year by the Supreme Court, a decision which declared that burning the flag was not unconstitutional and which its opponents have labeled as "not very patriotic." . . .

In a recent Newsweek poll, 71% of the 500 people interviewed stated they would support an amendment to the Constitution banning flag-burning. (Now why didn't 71% of the people object when Rocky Balboa wore American flag boxer shorts in the 'Rocky' movies?)

I believe people must come to realize that even though you may not personally like the decision, flag-burning is a right that should be, and is, protected by the First Amendment, which protects expression of any ideas . . .

All these senators are trying to demonstrate just how patriotic they are by attempting to make a law to save "Old Glory." Where were all these blind patriots when hundreds of students demanding a democracy were massacred in Tiananmen Square? Where were they when two black youths were beaten to death by a gang of White teenagers at Howard Beach? Working hard to solve these problems instead of wasting time on this bill would have made them real patriots.

Who are the real patriots anyways? George Bush and his group of flag-wavers or the people who work to keep flag-burning legal even though they oppose the reasons the flag-burners give for their acts?

Justice William Brennan says, "If there is a bedrock principle underlying the First Amendment, it is that the government may not prohibit the expression of an idea simply because society finds the idea itself offensive or disagreeable."

This to me sums up true patriotism. Fighting to keep alive the ideas our forefathers came to this very country for. We must always be able to express our opinions . . .

PURPLE PERIL

Sara Babel

Parents, you must warn your children! What started out several years ago as a series of freak accidents has exploded into the maniacal mass mutilation of our race! It must be stopped, and the only way this can be done is through education of the younger generation.

It is perfectly natural to allow your children to play outside after dinner, even after dark; to gather around the neighborhood spotlight or to fly around the local street lamp. But if they are ignorant of the severe danger lurking around them and are thus helpless in an emergency situation, you have only yourselves to blame.

Inform your children that although it is perfectly natural to be attracted to any kind of light, they should be wary of approaching those that are a hazy purple or green in color. It is widely known that dozens of our fellow townspeople who have disappeared were last seen approaching these foreign objects.

Are they freaks of nature? Unidentified Flying Objects? The contrived death-machines of violence-crazed members of our own species? We here at Channel 10 suspect they are a trap. A trap set by those giants whose blood we partake of . . .

Avoid the florescent lights and save yourselves and your children.

This is Charles Cicada, Channel 10, signing off. Back to you, Anne . . .

DEDICATION

IT'S ABOUT TIME that we grant credit to a very special person whose encouraging words and dedication offered inspiration to everyone. This person has been the Yearbook Advisor for the past two years at Carver High, as well as being the Supervisor of In-School Suspensions, the SADD Advisor, and the coach of the wrestling team. As you may well know by now, the subject of this dedication is Mr. Kevin Farrell.

Dedication is defined as having committed oneself to accomplishing a specific purpose. It is therefore fitting that this yearbook of 1990 be dedicated to Mr. Farrell in recognition of his hard work and devotion to the staff and senior class.

Mr. Farrell has given much of his time to this book, although it often passed seemingly unrecognized. At the times that we were closing in on deadlines and there seemed to be volumes of work yet to be finished, Mr. Farrell was always there to offer his weekend time and encouraging words.

It seems only appropriate to applaud his outstanding leadership, as Supervisor of the SADD Chapter. His work with SADD, including community and all school events, proved his merit to those surrounding him.

Your effort in all these areas, Mr. Farrell, did not pass unnoticed. It was because of dedication such as yours that this yearbook was possible. You were of immeasurable help to the yearbook staffs of 1989 and 1990, to the students involved in SADD, and to the wrestling team. With this dedication we would like to show our gratitude, and give to you, Mr. Farrell, the proper recognition.

We salute you Mr. Farrell, and IT'S ABOUT TIME.

ITS ABOUT TIME

SPORTS

FIELD HOCKEY

Ann Motyka

Adaptive Physical Ed.

It was the second season for the Carver High School field hockey teams, and a proud one. The members of the team, under the direction of head coach Ann Motyka and assistant coach Sylvia Butters, were a dedicated bunch of students, dedicated to both their school and their sport. Hard work, enthusiasm, and talent payed off in giving this year's team a place in the history of Carver High as the first Crusader field hockey team to win a victory for their school.

Officially, Carver did not wind up the season with a winning record. With two wins, three ties, and numerous losses, the Crusader field hockey team was not considered one of the top teams in the league by any stretch of imagination. However, in the minds of athletes, coaches, and all those involved with the field hockey program, the team was a winning one. The Crusader girls had a fire that could not be extinguished by any numbers on a score board.

WINNING TEAM

GIRLS SOCCER

TEAM SPIRIT

The Crusaders girls soccer team finished the 1989 season with a record of 3-12-3. The team suffered because half their starting line was out due to injuries. Many JV players took over the empty slots, however, and did a wonderful job. There couldn't have been a season without them.

Senior Captain Michelle Cadose was out for five games due to a knee injury, but remained the team's leader in number of goals scored. Heidi Knight, the other Senior Captain, had a very aggressive season and contributed a lot to the team in general. Junior Captain Christine Fletcher had a tremendous season as goalie. She made lasting impressions with her strong attitude and was voted All-Star.

Through all their tribulations, the team still stayed united and gave 100 percent. No matter what, they will always remember meatball subs and Mr. Tighe's favorite word: YUCK!!!

BOYS SOCCER

The Carver Crusaders boys varsity soccer team finished the 1989 season with 5 wins, 10 losses and 3 ties, much better than last year's record of 2 wins and 10 losses.

The team had lost several key players since last season, but was more than capable of filling the spots. This year the overall number of goals scored was increased and all but three players were individual scorers. Thanks to their prided defense, the Crusaders soccer team was able to cut in half the number of goals scored against them from last year's season to this one.

Award recipients for 1989 were Billy Jones: most valuable player, Mark Staziowski: best offensive player, Brian Millman: best defensive player, Alexander Chodor: winner of the twelfth player award, Kurt Saunders: most improved and Scott Egan: winner of the Crusaders pride award.

BOYS BASKETBALL

BRIGHT FUTURE

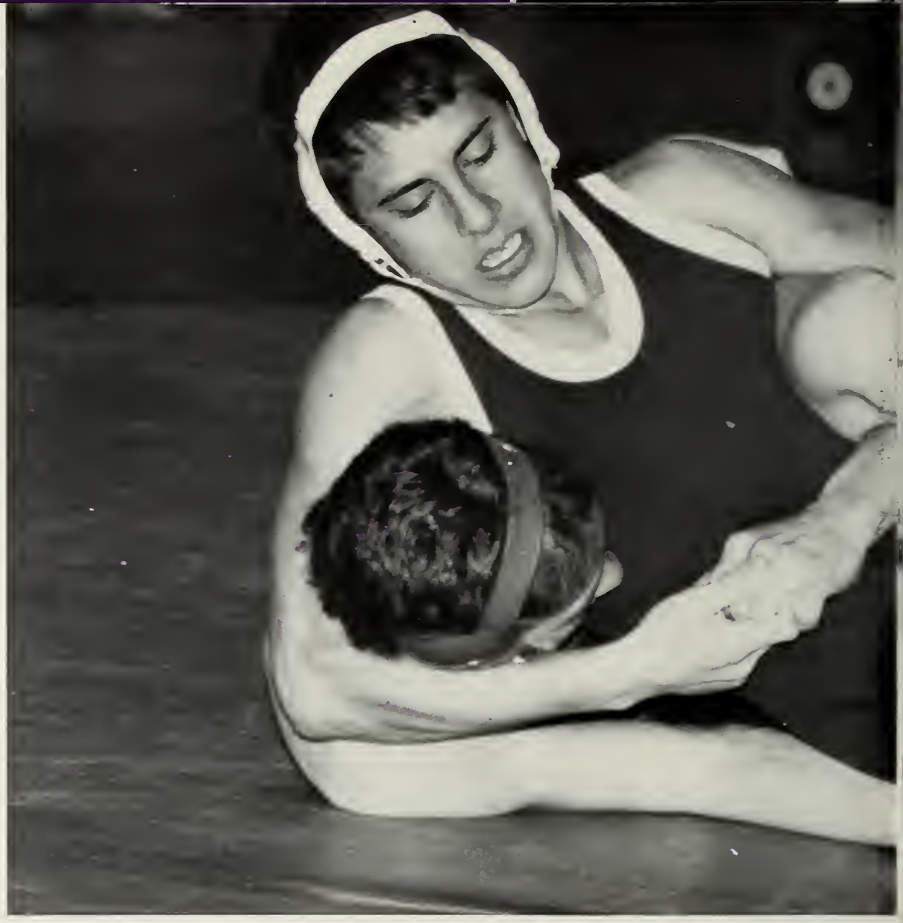
The 1989-90 Carver High School boys basketball team earned a great amount of respect around the South Shore League. The team's tenacious defense was well known by all the schools they played. The Crusaders were a competitive force and the balance of seniors, juniors and sophomores among the players insures that this will remain so for years to come. Leading this season's team were Senior Captain Bill Jones, Senior Captain Jason Lounds and seniors Rob Rowan and Brian Millman. The future looks bright for the Carver Crusaders in the South Shore League.

GIRLS BASKETBALL

SPIRIT AND DETERMINATION

Carver High School's girls basketball team was coached in its second year by Ms. Martha Ready. Despite not having a winning record, they were recognized for their spirit and determination throughout the season. Knowing that success cannot be determined by wins and losses, the improvement the team has shown in one year's time proves that there are victorious seasons ahead. The girls team was led by Crusader Seniors Renee Grennell and Rachel Fries and Junior Captains Becky Lyons and Kristin Webster.

WRESTLING



Wrestling has really taken off for Carver in just the two short years that the program has existed. The grappling Crusaders are sporting a 12-2 mark just past mid-season. This came as a surprise to many South Shore League teams who were expecting a .500 team. With the superb coaching of Kevin Farrell and his assistant Dave Vining, the wrestlers are eyeing a team Sectional Championship.

INSIDE-OUT MOVES

Again this year the Crusaders are being led by tri-captains Mark Stasiowski, Danny Shores, and Dan Grimes. The three have a combined record of 36-6, and are providing the leadership qualities that Carver High is proud of. The Crusaders are also being led by a good core of seniors on the team. They include 7-1 Paul Fernandes and Bryan Gillis.

Underclassmen who are performing well include; undefeated junior Alex Haigh, 9-2 junior Mike Grimes, 9-3 junior Bobby Marcolini, 6-1 sophomore Rick Johnson, 9-4 freshman Tom Walsh, and eighth grader Angus Leary.

GYMNASTICS

Even though this year's gymnastics team is very young, the competitors have a lot of talent and are training very hard in order to achieve their goals. The gymnasts are crossing their fingers in hopes that this year will leave them with a winning record, but even if it does not, the season is sure to have seen an overall good effort and some remarkable personal performances before its close.

FIT FOR THE NINETIES

CROSS COUNTRY

Although the Carver Cross-Country Teams were young and inexperienced, they made a good showing in the South Shore League. The boys team was led by Senior-Captain Jermaine Gomes, who was named one of the SSL all-stars.

NECK AND NECK

Jermaine finished sixth at the Varsity League meet in Randolph. Other strong members were Senior-Captain Sean Daley, Brian Pina, Chris Speakman, and Matt Baine. The girls Cross-Country team was led by junior and SSL all-star Brandy Vaughn, Senior Alicia Sanderson, and eighth grader Tara Macuch. Team captains were Junior Christine Jones and Freshman Heidi Fratus. All of the runners showed a sincere effort and can look forward to a strong future.

SIMPLY THE BEST

The 1989-1990 Crusader football team will be long remembered as the team to have brought home Carver's first football victory. The Old Colony Cougars became Carver's first victims. The Crusaders crushed the Cougars with a 29 to 8 win. Having tasted the thrill of victory, head coach Peter Murphy pushed his Crusaders yet harder in hopes of another victory. Although the Crusaders finished the season 1 and 8, the team earned the respect and recognition of all the teams in the South Shore League. Carver never left the field without knowing that they gave all they had to give. Through hard work and determination this year's team has changed Carver's image. No longer will the Crusaders be taken lightly. We are now a force to be dealt with. Year after year Carver will strive for athletic excellence and will come progressively closer to that goal each year. Perhaps Carver will be victorious in its quest for excellence and will be known as "Simply the Best."

Good luck in the future to Coach Murphy and his Crusaders — from all his graduating seniors.

CHEERLEADING

As a young squad of two years, the Carver cheerleaders have acquired the professional skill to compete with other league cheerleaders. Their long hours of practice paid off when their skills were enthusiastically shown cheering on the Crusaders at the football games.

NO SPORT LIKE IT

It took a tremendous amount of teamwork and trust. There's no other sport like it! Because there is no competition, it's just fun! However, when CHS cheerleaders were invited to Plymouth High School's Cheerleading Competition, they took on the challenge with ambition. Not surprisingly, Carver cheerleaders competed well. Although they did not claim first place, they were noted for their accomplishments and skills, especially for a young squad. There is a bright future for the squad. The departing seniors know that the enthusiasm and enjoyment will stay with the squad throughout the school's future.

CLUBS

It was the clubs, more than anything else, that turned this school from a lifeless construction site into a place with a warm and enthusiastic environment. Just listen to the announcements and you will be able to tell that the students at Carver High School are never lacking in things to do. From SADD to Student Council, from Camera Club to AFS; everyone is involved in something, and there is something for everyone to be involved in.

SADD

SADD has been one of the most influential groups here at Carver High School since it's beginning two years ago. Robert Anastas kicked off our chapter with an emotional, often tearful, assembly about drinking and driving. The student body as a whole learned from his story.

Our SADD chapter has been in the news quite often. Articles in the newspapers about our fundraisers, walk-a-thons, and other activities have kept the community aware of our views and opinions.

I have enjoyed working with our SADD chapter more than I can express in this short paragraph. I have met, and become friends with, many people that I would have otherwise never had contact with. Thanks for everything!

To the graduating class of 1990, I wish you all the happiness and safety that life can offer! Congratulations!

Spirit week . . . canned food drives . . . junior high dances . . . the Homecoming Dance. These are the many activities the Student Council has made possible. There hasn't been a job too big or too small for this group of students.

Last year, the spring SEMASS convention was held at Carver High School. Approximately 300 to 400 young leaders and their advisors came from area high schools to attend workshops meant to give insight on better ways to conduct student council activities. The theme was "We the students" and the day was very successful.

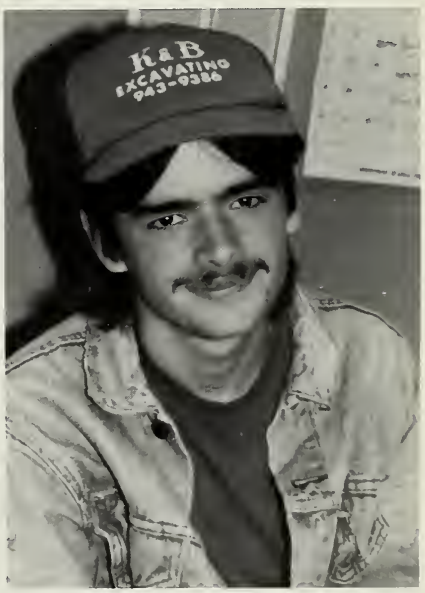
What do you want to be doing in twenty years? "I want to be living in Vermont in the middle of nowhere, married with five acres of land and no kids, making forty thousand a year working construction." — Wayne Clark



THE THREE G'S

1. GOALS

For a Senior year to be successful three goals must be achieved. One major goal for the year was to make all of the Senior activities during the month of May free for Seniors. This was accomplished through fundraisers such as the Football Concession Stand, the Magazine Drive, the Spring Fashion Show, the Senior Show and the Soda Machine.

Our second major goal was to give something back to the community in appreciation of all they have given to us. Our Community Service Projects included the Christmas Canned Food Drive, the Red Cross Blood Drive, and the First Annual Senior Citizens' Prom.

The third major goal was to keep our sanity while getting the Glory and while awaiting Graduation.

2. GLORY

At times we had ten (10) active committees vying for attention and membership. Senior year was a time for all members to shine through their contributions to committee work and through their community service. Each member of the Executive Board and each Student Council Representative Chaired at least one committee during the year. The Executive Board of the Student Council was four Seniors. We were represented on the School Committee by a Senior.

We received awards and commendations throughout the year for the contributions made in our classes, our extra-curricular activities and our sports programs.

3. GRADUATION — What else do "we" have to say? We DID start the fire!

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

How do you deal with stress? "I take it out on Rachel." — Mike Hamill

In order to be inducted into the National Honor Society, a student must have a grade point average of a B+ or better, and be nominated by a teacher. The student's name is then brought before a review board and is voted upon by teachers. It is an honor to be accepted, and all inductees receive a pin and a card, as well as the respect of the teachers and the school committee.

In 1989, the Honor Society members served as ushers on Class Day and at the Graduation of the Senior Class. The senior members of the society include: Sara Babel, Scott Garanrd, Jodi Gomes, Vicki Grace, Mike Hamill, Christine Harrington, Rachael Herf, Bill Jones, Eric Keenaghan, Laura Prentice, and Alicia Sanderson. Members from the junior class are: Kelly Corthell, Alex Haigh, Christine Jones, Michael Poirier, Robin Rocha, and Kristin Webster.

What do you do when you're in doubt? "Convert to moles." — Doc Swanson

The peerleaders are a selected group of students who have received training in communication skills in order to be able to teach other students about the dangers of tobacco, drug, and alcohol abuse. These students have worked hard throughout the year to show their dedication and desire by participating in many events. These include drug and alcohol awareness presentations, a visit to the elementary school, a "move-up day" that introduces the sixth graders to the high school, and a tutoring program. With everyone's support, it is the peerleaders hope that the community will become more aware of the difficult social situations of our times and more capable of dealing with them. The effects of their work can already be seen at CHS.

Twice a year about twenty well-prepared student delegates represent Carver High School in a national program known as Model United Nations. The first delegation attends a convention in Boston which is sponsored by Harvard University. The second convention is held in New York City. The students leave the program with a knowledge of their represented country's views about many issues and a new respect for our world leaders, having experienced firsthand the difficulty in attempting to solve some of the world's most urgent problems. In the 1989-90 academic year Carver High School represented Poland at Harvard and Chile in New York.

The Foreign Language Club was the first of its kind to be organized at Carver High School. Even in its first year, 1988, it had seven interested members, mostly juniors. Now the club consists of about 15 members ranging from seventh to twelfth grade. The organization meets monthly to discuss new plans.

In October it held a Harvest Fest which featured its foreign exchange student from Chile, Alejandro Mella, as a guest speaker. During December, the group held a Winter Festival which was a musical program with Hannukah and Christmas carols in French, Spanish, and Latin.

In the future the Foreign Language Club hopes to increase in size and to sponsor more activities.

The Camera Club does everything, from taking pictures to printing and enlarging film. With four cameras and two video cameras, the members of the club have plenty of opportunities to learn what it takes to make a good picture. They meet often to be taught the art of photography by Steven Davies, science teacher and photographer. They have submitted some of their photos for the yearbook. On this page are some examples of their interesting photos.

Dear Alicia,
Congratulations on your outstanding high school achievements. May your future efforts enable you to attain your goals. We're very proud of you.
Love,
Mom & Dad

To All Graduating Seniors:

Congratulations and Best Wishes

Bob and Pat Lownds

Dear Stacy,
You have always been very special to us. We wish you a bright and successful future. We are proud of you. CONGRATULATIONS!

Love,
Dad, Mom, Wendy, David, & Kim

Rachel,
Congratulations and all our love. You continue to make us proud. May all your dreams come true.

Love, Mom, Dad, & Amy

Sean,
As you keep growing and learning; striving and searching it is very important that you pursue your own interests without holding back.
It will take time to fully understand yourself and to discover what you want out of life.

As you grow, strive and search we know that the steps in your journey will take you on the right path whatever happiness and success and you can always depend on our love and support.

Mom & Dad

Congratulations Alicia;

I love you, I love you, I love you.

Nana & Grampa

RYAN JOHNSON, CLASS OF 1990

RYAN:
Where have the years gone? It seems like only yesterday when you came into our lives — a precious gift from God on that beautiful Easter Sunday eighteen years ago.

We have watched you grow from a beautiful, inquisitive, lovable baby into a handsome, independent, loving young man. We have laughed with you and cried with you; felt the anguish of your disappointments and the elation of your triumphs. We scolded and punished when it was necessary and tried to show you the error of your ways when you did something wrong. We tried to teach you to learn from your mistakes and to use your common sense. You learned your lessons well, my son.

Take pride in yourself and your accomplishments. Dare to take risks and to make your dreams reality. Continue to grow and to expand your horizons. Set your sights on your goal and "Go for it!"

High school graduation is a major milestone in your young life, but it is just a steppingstone to your future. The college years ahead will prepare you for the next phase of your life. They promise to be exciting and challenging years. Meet these new challenges with confidence, optimism and enthusiasm. Experience life to the fullest, reach for the stars, but never compromise your principles.

You are a wonderful person, Ryan. We've been truly blessed to have you for our son. We admire you and respect you and above all, we love you. As you go through life, remember that we'll always be here for you. Thank you for the joy, laughter and sunshine you have brought into our lives.

CONGRATULATIONS on your graduation and your acceptance to Worcester Polytech. No other parents could be prouder of their child than we are of you.

Love,
Mom and Dad

RY:
We've had some really nasty fights, but I'll miss you when you go off to college. Who's going to invade my space, take my CDs without asking and drink my sodas? Thanks for driving me to school every day. Good Luck!

Love,
Greg

RYAN:
You're college bound, and you've fulfilled our dreams. We're very proud of you.

Love,
Grandma & Grandpa Silva

Michelle Cadose

To My Special Sister:
How do I begin to say,
How very proud I am of you today
In everything you did, you tried your best,
You were always one step ahead of the rest.

I can assure you,
Your efforts did not go unseen,
You showed that you were true,
You proved that you were no longer a teen.

As you take your place in the world,
Remember, we started out as playmates,
Even tagged along on one another's dates,
And we grew to be best friends.

You're a special sister, a special friend
My love for you will never end,
Remember always along the way,
I love you more than words can say.

All of my love and luck always,

Danielle

Michelle

My Daughter — My Friend

Your beautiful smile has lit
up my life
In the darkest of times

Your trust and encouragement have made me go on
When I didn't think I could.

I have watched you transform from my tomboy
To a lovely young woman

Just remember this:
If it hurts you to look back,
Frightens you to look ahead
Then just look beside you —
I'll be there.

You're not only my daughter,
You're my special friend.

Love,
Mom

Eric,

You are a very special and unique young man. We feel lucky to have you for our son and we are very proud of you. Continue to set your goals and strive to fulfill them. The world can be yours and we know you can make your dreams come true. As you are doing that, remember to also enjoy life along the way. Always remember we are here for you with love support.

Love and Congratulations,

Mom, Dad & Jay

Dear Erin,

May all your dreams and wishes come true. May you always keep a smile on your face and hope in your heart.

Love,
Mom, Dad, Heidi, Wendy & Peter

To Sara,
Whose first sentence was "I can do it myself!" You certainly have, and we're very proud of you.
Love,
Mom & Dad

Alina,

The apple of our eye!

We love you

Memere & Pepere

Alina,

We've watched you grow into a beautiful lady. You have learned to form your own opinions and make intelligent decisions that have and will effect your life. We trust you and the decisions you've made. Please trust what you know to be true and always follow your heart. We're proud of you.

Love Mom & Dad
p.s. We love you!
Love Sean & Danny

Tara,

You are a very special person, and we're truly proud to be your family.

Follow your dream, we're with you always. Ride on and be happy.

Love,
Mom, Dad, Ron, Tedra & Vikie

Stephanie,

You'll always be our baby girl!

Love,
Dad & Mom

It's the nature of Plymouth County

The first time is more precious. There are times that catch the commonplace off guard and show a sense of wonder. A moment only memory can capture again, and what will be recalled is the caring.

We at Plymouth Federal Savings Bank believe we're here to help you enjoy these moments. All of our services are directed that way — the way you live. We call it FinancialCare.

It's our hometown attitude that recognizes the values you cherish, not just the money you accumulate.

Wouldn't you rather deal with a bank that tries to help you meet your goals, not just its own?

Caring — it's the nature of Plymouth County and its people and we are part of that tradition. Member FSLIC
